SPECIAL REPORT

The 13 Sneakiest Tricks, Tests and Mind Games of Women--That Men Keep Falling For

It’s been said that:

“A true genius is a person who has talent and still does their homework.”

In football, it’s been said that the offense sells tickets and gets the glory, but the defense wins championships. And because “the offense” gets the glory, many of my competitors programs mainly focus on the “attack” or what to do “on offense” when they are selling tickets to their “success with women” seminars or home study courses.
In other words, they teach you how to increase your confidence enough to go out and talk to women and maybe even talk your way into getting their email or phone number. I say, who cares if you have maxed out the memory with women’s numbers on your cell phone; or have so many emails in your laptop’s address book you forgot who’s who? Why don’t you just walk around with the entire White Pages Phone book under your arm so you don’t miss anybody on the list?! It means nothing if you can get (or already have) hundreds of women’s phone numbers and e-mails if you do not know the mind set of attracting them and keeping them around longer than a one time date. Some guys think that their mind set with women is a bunch of fluff. It might be a small part but, it’s a critical part as well. Remember that commercial that was showing you a small piece of plastic in a car mechanic’s hands. The narrator said something like: “This is a 38 cent piece of plastic, but a $38,000 car won’t start with out it.” The right mindset is just like the 38 cent piece of plastic—you’re success with women won’t start with out it either.

Some women only want a guy with money; some women only want a guy with muscles and good looks. But ALL women want a guy who knows how to create feelings of attraction within her.
This is how guys who are limited in their looks and finances are still able to have beautiful women pursue them!

I hear from some of my competitor’s customers and they tell me that they can successfully approach a woman and even have great odds in their favor of getting a first date. The problem is that they can’t seem to get that 2nd or 3rd date without hearing the “F” word—“Friends”, as in: “Let’s just be friends.”

This why one of my next programs is going to be:

“2 Date Minimum”
How to Get Past That 2nd or 3rd Date Barrier

Once I have it together, be sure to find out more at:

www.2DateMinimum.com

This is comparable to when I was working in a stock brokerage firm in the mid to late 80’s. Some stock brokers were good at cold calling, but they just didn’t follow up with the prospects. Some were good at getting the prospect to agree with them on the potential of the stock, but couldn’t close them and open the account. And worst of all were the brokers who could close anyone, anywhere; however, they never got a 2nd order out of the customer. Dating is the same way. There are guys who are burning through their rolodex of phone numbers and e-mails and never getting past the 1st, 2nd or 3rd date. The guys that have the most success are the ones who are better at disqualifying the “bad prospects” as quickly as possible and as a result the remaining relationships last much longer.

Just before I was about to graduate college, I passed my Series 7 (Registered Representative License to sell stocks, bonds and mutual funds) and used to qualify prospects (instead of just cold call) for two very different stock brokers. To keep it fair, I would hand out the leads generated by going back and forth between them one at a time. This kept it as random as possible and I wouldn’t be accused of favoring one broker over the other. Broker #1 had trouble converting any of my leads to sales. He even started complaining that I didn’t know how to qualify these leads before I handed them over to him. He would say all the wrong things to the prospective leads and wonder why nobody was buying any stock from him. I tried to coach him on what to say, but he really didn’t want to listen to a “wet-behind-the-ears” broker trainee, even though he knew I was right. Broker #1 was such a bad salesman that he went through over 30 of my qualified leads and didn’t close any of them. As he was on his way to the sales manager’s office to complain about my efforts (so he wouldn’t look bad), he was surprised to find Broker #2 already in the sales manager’s office singing my praises. It seems Broker #2 just closed 4 out of the last 7 leads I gave him for over $100,000 in sales. If you know anything about sales, you know that we were lucky to get 1 out of 10 qualified prospects to convert into a customer. With 4 out of 7, Broker #2 was closing over 57% of my leads where any broker would have been happy with 10%.

We were calling on Presidents and Vice Presidents of companies that had been in business for at least 3 years and had at least $3 million in annual sales. Unfortunately, that was not enough qualification to get a good quality lead and eventually a sale. The secret to my success was to disqualify the prospective investors so I had a much higher quality lead when I got off the phone. I would ask more questions and as a result, let the person on the other end of the phone talk their way into or out of our services based on their answers. I wanted to see if they qualified to hear from us again, instead of them granting approval to see if we were qualified enough to call them again. Other trainees would just get the free information packet out to almost anyone that they could get on the phone. They might have had more leads, but mine were the most qualified leads at the brokerage firm. When it came time for the brokers to call the leads back, my leads had a higher close ratio than any other trainee. The prospects turned into new accounts quickly, which saved the brokers time and made more money over the long run. Before long, the brokers were not just paying me by the hour, they were paying me bonuses per lead and per new account that they opened because they knew my leads converted to not just customers but repeat customers for years to come. It turned into a bidding situation from all the brokers. They bought me breakfast, lunch and dinner. They offered to by my time earlier in the day, later in the day or on the weekend. I wound up making two to three times more money than the other trainees only because I took the time to get a better quality lead by disqualifying them upfront.

After a few more leads and some coaching from the sales manager (and myself), Broker #1 finally opened up an account off of one of my leads which put him at a pitiful 2% closing. He was burning through too many good leads and costing the company money instead of making the company money. He was eventually offered another position within the company. Thanks to the infinite wisdom of corporate America, he was put in a place where he could do less harm—management! He was asked to give up his “stock broker” status and told he could have a “sales manager” position for a branch office in another state. I guess people really are promoted to their level of incompetence after all.

With this type of corporate B.S. going on in the company, they still wondered why I called in sick one day in the fall of 1993 and flew to New York to do the Montel Williams Show when the opportunity presented itself. I had done some radio interviews and one other talk show, but nothing this big. Instead of being in the typical authors spot (last), I was on first and took on 100 spell bound women in the studio audience and over 3 million viewers at home. From that moment, I knew people from all over the world believed in my ideas and were motivated to find out more. They ran into bookstores and demanded the book and producers of talk shows from around the world kept calling my house at any hour of the day. My grandma became my “volunteer” personal assistant and screened the calls and helped me send out press packets. She was already heavily involved in the creation of the book and found herself proofing it with me over and over, night after night. I knew she was just amazed at all of the interesting people who were calling to find out more about the ideas in the book that were mere pieces of paper laying on the our kitchen table months before. Unfortunately, she’s not here anymore to help me proof this 2nd edition, but I know she’s watching down over me in heaven still encouraging me to go on and amazed at how this information comes through me and gets the reaction it does when I help change people’s lives with it. So in honor of my grandmother, let’s push the envelope and let me ask you:

What do you do when the women start “testing” you by playing social tricks, traps and mind games on you? It might be the first date, (it might be the last!), all I know is that guys that are married over 50 years still get “tested” by their wives—so this stuff doesn’t go away. You need to have a good social defense against this in order to win or at least reduce the damage. It’s like you’re being a future Hall of Fame defensive line backer from a Super Bowl Championship team, (let’s just say: The 1985 Chicago Bears). This is the mind set you need in order to be able to “read the plays” on the field so you can respond with strength and confidence, not just react and wonder how they got past you and eventually got the best of you because you weren’t prepared.

Women are going to keep running plays to try and keep you off balance. They are going to claim that they are “so mysterious” by mixing up the plays, hoping you don’t see or figure out a pattern. They are going to try and make you vulnerable and question yourself just to see if you really believe in your own confidence. They are going to try and make you have “turnovers” so they can be on offense more and more so they can “call the plays” and make you hastily react to them. It’s a slippery slope from there, because if you’re not careful, you will fall into the: “Yes, dear” category and keep agreeing with anything she says just so she won’t complain about you, bitch at you or fight with you. Women will keep causing turnovers (as long as you let them) by making you fumble your balls. (Pun intended) By fumbling, you are handing the ball(s) over to her. Good luck scoring now!

Once they have the ball (or in this case: “have you by the balls”), they will remind you of the “good old days” when she was so attracted to you because you seemed to be a powerful and confident “train” heading for an unquestioned destination and nothing was going to stop you from your dreams. With you being a deflated, miniature version of what you used to be, she will lose more and more respect for you because you can’t have respect for a team that you can walk all over and easily beat. The teams and players that you respect are the ones you can’t beat or at least they make it a tough challenge to do so.

Most women are going to try and wear you down with enough bitching and nagging in order to “renegotiate” the terms of the relationship. They might increase or decrease the amount of sex just so you start “seeing things her way”. Women know and fully understand that sex is the currency of any relationship between them and any guy. Sex is to the relationship as money is to a job. The more there is and the better it is, the more you will be willing to do and the more crap you will be willing to put up with in order to get more of it.

The problem is that most guys think with the wrong part of their body. As a result they scan the single clubs for women based on beauty the same way they skim the “help wanted ads” just based on the salary of the job. Any woman that doesn’t meet the minimum beauty requirement is glanced over and forgotten about the same way a job that doesn’t meet the minimum salary requirements.

The smart job seeker and business opportunity seeker aren’t just interested in how much money they are going to make, but rather (and more importantly), what will they have to do (and give up in their life) in order to make the money.

You can make a $100,000 at a sales job, but you have to travel 3 weeks a month out of the country. You can have a million dollar convenience store business if you don’t mind working 18 hour days 365 days a year and taking a 2 day vacation once every 5 years. Unfortunately, most guys only look at the money from the business opportunities and only look at the physical beauty from the women. Who cares how much of a hot body she has if she never lets you near it? That’s like owning a Lamborghini and never being able to drive it. Why bother paying the inflated premium price for insurance, maintenance and storage if you never get to use it?

If you’re looking for more than just casual sex, I would be asking myself things like: “Is she high maintenance?“; “Is she an emotional train wreck waiting to happen?“; “Does she have a lot of emotional baggage or just a ‘carry on’ bag?“; Is she a team player?‘; “Does she let me do all the work while she has all the fun or does she want to have fun with me in the picture?“; “Does she make me jump through a bunch of hoops in order to win her affection?“; “Does she make it easy for me to be myself around her?“; “Can I please her easily?“; “Does she appreciate me?“; etc. If you want to have a higher success percentage with women, you have to honestly answer these “red flag” questions for yourself.

By the way, when the woman keeps “raising the quota”, this usually results in the guy slowly and steadily doing more for the relationship as she does less and less. Pretty soon she doesn’t have to do anything accept find another guy who still has his balls and won’t kiss her ass so much.

Years ago, one of Vince Lombardi’s players on the Green Bay Packers was asked why they won so many games. The player said that coach Vince Lombardi’s preparedness is why they won. The player summed it up in 2 main reasons of why Vince Lombardi won so many games: 1) He told you what the other team was going to do and 2) He told you what you needed to do in order to beat them. You can’t get any clearer than that. I want the information and strategies I talk about to come across just that way. I want to tell you what the other team (women or true Jerks) are going to do and what you need to do in order to win. I’ve come up with some “plays” that a woman might run against you (when they are on offense) and I want you to be prepared on defense. These are all true to life because I went through them personally with different women. I’ve learned from them and I want you to do the same so you don’t have to go through the pain yourself. Because remember the old phrase: “Fool me once, shame on you, but fool me twice, shame on me!” So here they are. I call them the:

“The 13 Sneakiest Tricks, Tests and Mind Games of Women—That Men Keep Falling For!”

1. Pay Dues and No Membership: Women know that Nice-guys stay alert to help any woman in need. Nice-guys are delusional if they think that by helping any woman with what ever she needs that she will see him as “good boyfriend material”. This extends all the way from letting her pull into traffic in front of you (when she’s a stranger) to helping her move to a different apartment (when you’re her best friend). When in reality, all she really sees you as is a “tool” that any one can just use because they have little respect for you--so why should she be any different. You will “be there for her” like a best friend and that’s the way she will treat you. She might even say: “You’re such a doll for doing this for me.” Which translates to: “you are a like a stuffed animal toy that she hugs when she feels lonely or needs to cry”. When something more interesting or exciting comes around (like a Jerk), she quickly loses interest and puts you back on the shelf until next time she needs you.

You will keep paying the emotional, physical, and mental “dues”, and receive no boyfriend membership and benefits for your efforts. The next time a girl calls and asks for a favor, ask yourself: W.W.J.D.: “What would a Jerk do?” No not to be confused with the W.W.J.D.: “What would Jesus do?” Remember, Jesus was the ultimate Nice-guy and the people nailed him to a cross. -Ouch! This proves that even 2,000 years ago it was painful to be a Nice-guy. I think it’s less painful to be a Jerk!

2. Play 20 Questions: This is a classical first date test. You think everything is going great on the date because the conversation keeps going. The only reason the conversation keeps going is because she is playing “20 questions” with you. She is asking you everything from your favorite color to your mother’s maiden name. You willingly tell her EVERYTHING and think: “Wow, I’ve got such a great rapport with this woman; she’s really interested in me because she keeps asking me questions”. The problem is that she needs “mystery” in the relationship. If you tell her everything about yourself on the 1st date, don’t wonder why you’re not getting a 2nd one. Whether she is asking these questions because she is testing you to see how much you will reveal about yourself (or genuinely interested in asking), you need to give short answers and get out of this mode as quickly as possible in order to save yourself and the potential future dates. The more you are on “Play” (re-playing your old “fun” memories for her and making your conversation sound like a documentary about yourself) instead of “Record” (recording the fun intensity of the moment you are in now by doing spontaneous and adventurous things) the faster the relationship will crash and burn before it even gets off the ground. Nice-guys think if they tell her about all the fun they had in the past, he will appear to be a “good prospect” of fun in the future. Do you think she wants to come over on the 1st or 2nd date and watch home movies of you and all your fun in the past? Or do you think she wants you to create some fun memories with her so you both can play them in your minds for years to come? I’m here to tell you that women think just like the warning found on a mutual fund ad: “Past performance is no guarantee of future performance.” She knows the only way she will be attracted to you as a fun, spontaneous, unpredictable, adventurous guy is to see if you act that way around her now, not just in your past around other people. (Also see Chapter 18 - “Filling Holes” in How to be the Jerk Women Love 2nd Edition available at: www.WomenFiguredOut.com)

3. The Acid Test Question – this one is so important and relationship changing that it had to have its own number:

   When all is going right in a relationship and you’re wondering if the woman is going to have sex with you—beware! She might try and throw a monkey wrench in the works by asking you one tiny little relationship altering, destiny changing question. She will say something along the lines of: “Have you ever fantasized about us together?”; “Do you think you’d ever ‘do it’ with me?”; “Did you ever think about having sex with me?” or “Have you ever thought about us making love?” Most guys think this is an easy question which will take them one step closer to having sex with her. They quickly answer with a confident “yes” and think that this all too easy. The problem is that when she knows that she “can have you”, before she “has had you”, the chances of you having sex with her went from 90% down to 10% in a heartbeat. So therefore, realize that you will be giving yourself such an incredible and instant, social setback that you should answer ANYTHING but “yes”! By the way, don’t answer “no” either. If you do, she will think that you are lying or that you are gay (or both). –The 10% chance (you had by answering “yes”) looks really good now! She knows that if you are giving her any amount of attention (like going on a date) that you are sexually interested in her. If you weren’t sexually interested in her you would have skimmed right past her like that minimum wage job in the help wanted section. With that in mind, the next time you’re asked if you thought about the two of you having sex before it actually happens, try answering with something smart ass and cocky like: “Well that’s for me to know and you to find out.”; “Who every said you could afford me?”; “Well, you’ve got good potential, but you might have to do a better job on selling me on it.”; or “Yeah, I dreamed about it and in the dream you couldn’t keep up, so you better do something to increase your endurance before we even try to have sex. Maybe take a few aerobic classes or something.”

What you are letting her know is that you are “not hungry”. You are also communicating to her that she can’t afford you and you’ve had better than her. You’re presenting yourself as being expensive and it’s going to take more on her part if she wants your attention. You’re showing her that you are not an easy sell or an easy kill. You’re demonstrating to her that you’re comfortable enough, confident enough and experienced enough around women to be playful in a fun teasing way. This teasing is what makes the sexual intensity skyrocket because you are holding her back from getting the “instant gratification” she so desperately craves. Make sure she gets her “instant gratification” from shopping and Nice-guys, not from you.

4. Reverse Passion Play: This is where the woman tries to tell you how busy she is with her life. She has her career, possibly graduate school with homework, her friends, her family, her cats and on and on. She takes what I said about: “Making yourself a Challenge” and uses it against you. She tries to sell you on the idea that her life is so busy with her passions, hobbies, interests and commitments that the only chance you have of being around her is to just get in line behind EVERYTHING else. If you find a woman who does this or at least presents herself this way, it is either a social smoke screen to see if you are intimidated by her strong feminine life or bunch of crap and lies (or both). If the right guy came around and created feelings of attraction in her, she would leave all of the passions, hobbies, interests and commitments in order to try to be first in your line rather than warning you that you have to be in the back of the line in her life. This is where the Jerk can get almost any woman to miss meetings at work, cancel out on her friends and lie to her family in order to get another taste of what she knows she can’t have (him) and satisfy her uncontrollable, unstoppable, biological urge and addiction to be with him.

5. Sorry, Members Only: I’ve come to the conclusion that your sex life with any woman is indirectly proportional to the relationship she has with her parents. In other words, the better the relationship she has with her parents, the worse the quality and quantity of your sex life is going to be. This will put you into the “sex 2-3 times a month or 2-3 times a year” category. On the other hand, if she comes from a broken home, her father left when she was young, or her mother disowned her years ago, get prepared for the best sex of your life. She will have such an un-quenching sexual appetite that she will wear you out. This will result in you being in the “sex 2-3 times a week or 2-3 times a day” category. Maybe she has sex as a way to make up for the physical love, emotional support and acceptance she didn’t get from her parents. –Yeah, like you’re really going t care about the reasons! There’s at least one of these girls in every circle of friends. The guy she is going out with doesn’t deserve half the sex he’s getting. He thinks he’s a stud, when in reality he doesn’t understand that he has nothing to do with his girlfriend getting hot and horny. He’s just happens to be the closest warm body to put out her “fire in the hole”. This guy is in for a big let down when he moves on to the next girl who isn’t so naturally horny. As a result, the sex will be given out with an eye dropper because he doesn’t know how to create the feelings of attraction in her.

6. You’re Just The Stunt Double: This one is 3 dimensional. Don’t just think because a woman has a great time with you and really seems interested that you should be heading for the jewelry store for an engagement ring. A) She might be on the rebound from a relationship and her friends told her to “dance with a stranger” in order to help forget about her heartache. B) Even worse, she might not be officially broken up with her boyfriend yet and just be looking for revenge for the evening. It could be dirty dancing, kissing or a one night stand with you, but by the next day she has changed back into a pumpkin and won’t even remember your name. C) And worst of all, she keeps you around for a while for a short term relationship and gets your hopes up. You later find out that the entire relationship was a façade and you might as well been in a Hollywood movie. You’re just a stunt double that she bounced up and down on for a while until the real “leading man” came back into her life.

7. Out of the Blue Booty Call: This is a 2-parter. If some woman that you’ve dated before or just happen to know suddenly calls you out of the blue for a late night booty call. Be careful that she isn’t just horny and lonely. Don’t look at this as: “Well I knew she would come to her senses!” Rather she could be in trouble. A) She might already be looking for protection from something she did that day or week. Now she needs you to step up and defend her and get her out of trouble especially if she needs you to leave right away and come get her. B) She could also be pregnant and need you to have sex with her as quickly as possible. You think it’s great and you use 3 kinds of protection. However, within the next few days, she informs you that the baby must be yours from the night of passion you both shared. See you on the talk show circuit with your D.N.A. samples!
8. Fair Weather Girlfriend: This is the classic case of the girl in high school that goes out with the football player during fall football season; the wrestler and basketball player during the winter season; the baseball player during the spring season and the life guard on summer vacation. Beware of this one because she has a greater interest in the letterman’s jacket than the in the letterman himself. When she gets older she will sell her affection to the highest bidder. She will leave a trail of everything from jackets to jewelry as she “traded up” the social ladder. At best, you will be just one of the little people she stepped on to get to where she needed to go. I say save your money or at least get a receipt. This way you can ask for a refund back at the store for your gifts. She is certain to discard them just as sure as the next season changes.

9. Whole lot a jerking going on: If someone gives you a jerk in a certain direction it shifts your body and mind to focus on what just happened. I say that a Jerk in the Social Marketplace is someone that comes in to a woman’s life and shakes up the complacency. He gets her to focus on what he wants to do by “jerking her around”. He alters her destiny “by jerking her around”. He gets on her mind by giving a jerk (or a twist) to her reality. Most people (especially women) are bored and waiting for something to jolt them. Women want to be anything but bored. This is why soap operas and romance novels hold a woman’s attention so well. There is so much “jerking” going on and the women love it. The characters get “jerked” in one direction and as soon as they get too comfortable, they get “jerked” in another direction with a whole new batch of excitement and problems. If you see that your woman is more interested in her romance novels and soap operas, you know that she is secretly crying out to live the drama instead of just reading about it ad watching it on TiVo. Jerks “jerk” people from one extreme to the other and have the relationship bouncing up and down like an E.K.G. Nice-guys stay in a straight line—a flat line! And that is whey their relationships with women “flat line” and die.

10. Double Agent: You’ve heard phrase: “It’s the quite ones you gotta watch.” This is so true with women because it is so easy for them to give you the false impression of themselves. Women have so many moods, personalities and emotions that you need a scorecard like this special report to keep up. What if I told you that the quite reserved woman at work was yelling and screaming her head off last night at a rock and roll concert? --Only to be followed by a night of yelling and screaming her head off during sweaty, passionate sex. Most women live out their alter egos and share them only with their closest friends and lovers. They will give you the false impression that they look like and act like the quiet librarian who would rather stay in and read her novels, but most of these women have enough built up sexual energy to light up a city. She just never found the right outlet for it. Don’t accept the quiet reserved personality you see at face value because she might act like completely different behind closed doors in private.

11. Marking the Territory: This one is 4 dimensional. A) Sometimes when a woman doesn’t know if you are playing the field or dating her exclusively she will “mark the territory”. She will do this by purposely dropping something under the car seat or couch to see if any other girls have left anything behind (from earrings to a bra). If she finds something, she will question it and you better hope that you have a roommate to blame it on or your sister crashed at your place last night. B) She will be the one leaving something behind for another woman to find hoping you will get caught in her trap. C) She will leave something behind like an extra earring (that she wasn’t wearing that day) under the car seat and then on the next date pretend to find it and ask you whose it is. She just wants to see if you are going to cough up any names of other girlfriends that you might have had in your car in between the dates with her. I remember I learned this one by finding the earring that my date left behind when I cleaned my car. On the next date, it was hilarious to see her looking for it under the seat as she couldn’t wait to question me about it. The only problem with her plan was that the earring was already moved by me. I said: “If you’re looking for the earring you left behind, it’s in the glove compartment.” She was speechless. D) When you get to the point in the relationship where you move in together or get married, a woman will usually want to start by leaving some of her personal items at your place to mark the territory. It will start off with her leaving anything behind from an extra hair brush or tooth brush and then it will escalate to cosmetics and tampons. Before you know it she is slowly redecorating by changing your drapes and buying you some hand towels for the bathroom. You respond with: “I’m a guy, what do I need a hand towel for?” Then you really know you’re in trouble when she buys a bed set with a flower pattern on it. Of course, you don’t notice the flowery bed spread for a while because she met you at the door wearing nothing but lingerie or just one of your white dress shirts. She has the best sex of your life with you in every room except the bedroom. The next day when you finally find the bedspread, she meets you there and decides to give you a repeat performance of the night before. And once again you seem to forget about the flowers that you are laying on! Until one day you just wake up and ask her: “Honey, when did we get a bed spread with flowers on it?”

12. Lover’s Spat: Beware of the woman that just starts arguments even when things are going great. She needs to see a “show of strength” from her man to fight back. This will give her a feeling of security. Just like saying: “I love you”, some women need this reinforcement once a day, once a week, once a month or maybe just once a year. Be aware of how often she needs this reinforcement and decide if it’s a level you can accept and live with. She might even be getting into arguments for no other reason except to have the “make-up sex”. Well, every once in a while there’s some benefits to this craziness.
13. Two Tickets to Paradise: By the way, neither one of these tickets has your name on it, but you’re supposed wish your woman a good time as she and at least one friend are headed to a vacation destination without you. These girlfriend vacations are worse than a “girl’s night out” and a bachelorette party combined because it involves multiple nights and a greater distance away from home. In other words, what’s going to happen on vacation is going to stay on vacation. You are supposed to be the drug she is addicted to, not the everyday seriousness that needs a break from. She needs to have her friends, but in my book, vacation time is couple time. You’ll never find out the truth (nor do you really want to know the truth) about what went on during her vacation. It’s best that you either go with her on vacation; get everyone to go as couples or just talk her out of going all together. If all else fails, be sure to call up your buddies and schedule a trip of your own. Then decide if you really want to be with a woman who is going to spend thousands of dollars just to get away from you and create fun memories when you are hundreds or thousands of miles away.

SPECIAL BONUS
14. Daddy’s Little Devil: You should watch the way a woman treats and interacts with her dad or father figure in her life. Take a lesson from her because she has been watching like a hawk in the way that you treat your mom or mother figure in your life. Most women believe that they will eventually be treated the same way you treat your mother. The downside is if you are too close to your mother you are going to be known as a “Mama’s boy.” On the other hand, if you haven’t talked to your mother in years (by choice) or it takes such a great effort to just call her on Mother’s Day, her birthday and Christmas, then this might raise a red flag to a woman as well. For this very reason, some say that over time, you will be getting the same level of respect that she has for her father. If she has him wrapped around her finger, chances are over time, she will have you wrapped around her finger as well. If she has her dad fooled by lying to him on a consistent basis and he is clueless to how she really is outside the house, chances are you will be in a similar denial about her someday as well. Even if she is 50+ years old, she might be “Daddy’s Little Girl” at home, but outside she is “Daddy’s Little Devil.” These are the types of women who are jumping around on stage winning amateur wet T- shirt contest at the bar on Saturday night and singing in the church choir Sunday morning. Be the one who she is getting into trouble with and not the responsible one who is bailing her out. Sports figures, especially in professional basketball keep saying things like: I’m not a role model, just let me do my job and win games.” With this in mind, I believe you can’t be the “role-model-father-figure” and “lover” to the same woman. So pick up what costume you want first and let the other one sit there. The more you take the role of the responsible father figure in her life, the more she will rebel against you as well. Now you’re the enemy instead of her fun time “partner in crime”.

Women can be the main reason you win the game of life or get your ass kicked by it. So use your new talent and still do your homework because I know these defensive strategies will help you win the big social game. In closing, just remember what I keep telling you as your “Jerk Coach”:

“You’ll never score as much as you could’ve, if you keep ‘fumbling the balls’ over to the other team.”

- F.J. Shark
P.S. Be sure to check back at: www.2DateMinimum.com and www.LessonsFromtheCaveman.com when I get the information organized.

******************************************************************************

CONTENT DISCLAIMER:

_All information_, strategies and opinions of F.J. Shark are for Education and Entertainment purposes only. The author and companies assume no liability or responsibility for your actions and results if you choose to use the information or just let it sit there.

By reading this you fully understand this agreement, and hold no person, besides yourself, responsible for your actions.

No part of this material may be reproduced by any means without permission in writing from the publisher, except by a reviewer mentioning: www.WomenFiguredOut.com in the review / article and wishing to quote brief excerpts in connection with their review / article which can be sent to: FJShark@WomenFiguredOut.com or ConfessionsofaJerk@hotmail.com as a courtesy.

This is a bonus to the 2nd Edition of:

“_How to be the Jerk Women Love_”
eBook available at:
www.WomenFiguredOut.com

Copyright MMV,
All Rights Reserved